Claims 21-25, 27, are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 112, second paragraph, as being indefinite for failing to particularly point out and distinctly claim the subject matter which applicant regards as the invention.

Claims 21-25, 27, are dependent from canceled claim 7.

The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(b) the invention was patented or described in a printed publication in this or a foreign country or in public use or on sale in this country, more than one year prior to the date of application for patent in the United States.

Claims 1, 19-27, are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(b) as being anticipated by US 6564551 (Stock).

Stock discloses a system for converting thermal energy into motive energy comprising a pressure vessel 1, an upper injection orifice 2, valves 4, 4' for injecting either cold or warm fluid, a liquid piston pump 5 at the lower end of the pressure vessel, a horizontal wall with borehole 3 (note the Examiner is taking the position that the wall is the wall that has the spray nozzle 3, and the nozzle 3 is the borehole as claimed).

The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

Claim 15 is rejected under 35 U.S.C. § 103(a) as being unpatentable over U.S. 6564551 (Stock). Stock discloses all the claimed subject matter as set forth above in the rejection of claim 1, but does not disclose the conical borehole. However, it would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to modify the shape of the borehole to be conical for the purpose of gradually changing the amount of fluid flow.

Claims 16, 19, 21-27, are rejected under 35 U.S.C. § 103(a) as being unpatentable over U.S. 6564551 (Stock) in view of US 5775103 (Ingvast). Stock discloses all the claimed subject matter as set forth above in the rejection of claim 1, but does not disclose the float valve with the borehole. Ingvast discloses in figure 6 it's well known to have a float 74 with a borehole 82 to throttle the fluid. It would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to modify the float in Stock to have hole as taught by Ingvast for the purpose of throttling the fluid flow.

Claims 17-18 are objected to as being dependent upon a rejected base claim, but would be allowable if rewritten in independent form including all of the limitations of the base claim and any intervening claims.

The prior art made of record and not relied upon is considered pertinent to applicant's disclosure. Roesel, Jr., Wallace, and Milleron disclose system using tanks with floats to control the fluid flow.
